“The Baltimore Book Festival was a great sponsorship opportunity for WEAA. We were put in direct contact with our core audience and able to gather feedback about the station. This feedback is critical and helps us plan our programming and fundraising initiatives. We will continue to be a sponsor of the Baltimore Book Festival in the years to come.”

- James K. Barbour, Director of Development
WEAA 88.9 FM

“Through the Baltimore Book Festival, we were able to introduce our website, BookDivas.com to a number of interested people. In addition, we received tremendously valuable feedback and requests from those that had a chance to look at our site and ask us questions about our community. We fully intend to implement some of the ideas we received which I feel will make us a stronger online book community for women.”

- Leah Messina, CEO

“Baltimore Blues Society is proud to be a sponsor and participant in the Baltimore Book Festival. It provides an opportunity both to support local blues musicians and expose the broader public to this indigenous musical art form. It also provides an opportunity for attendees to stop by the booth, learn more about the blues and the Baltimore Blues Society and gives our volunteers an opportunity to teach and interact with interested festival goers.”
